Mentor, Ohio – The Shareholders and Directors of CT Consultants, Inc. take pleasure in announcing the addition of the following new shareholders: John H. deGraaf, AIA, NCARB; Robert McNutt, PE; James M. Shumate, PE, PS; and Frank W. Twehues, PE.

John deGraaf has over 25 years of architectural experience and directs the company's southwest Ohio architectural group. Bob McNutt is a senior project manager leading the Akron, Ohio office with all aspects of water/wastewater design. Jim Shumate manages the Fort Mitchell, Kentucky office, serves as municipal engineer and specializes in large private sector projects. Frank Twehues heads up the southwest Ohio municipal group and manages private commercial projects throughout the country.

We are delighted to have these four individuals join our ownership team. They have all proven to be excellent performers and have made significant contributions to our clients' business needs. We are certain they will continue to be key contributors to the growth of the company.
