Seeking Project Architect and Project Manager

PCA Architecture is a small and nimble firm looking to expand our team. We want someone that can take projects and run with them. Someone who can help us move the needle on good design in our region and can create a thorough set of construction documents relatively unsupervised.

You will get to work on a little bit of everything from schools, to projects at the airport, to adaptive reuse projects in Over-the-Rhine. You will have a meaningful role on every project type so the work never gets boring. We offer unlimited growth within the firm for the right motivated and self-directed individual.

Ideal Candidates with the following experience requirements:

- Ability to put together a comprehensive set of Construction Documents without oversight.
- Experienced performance for all phases of architectural drawings including planning, designing, and production.
- Ability to perform Zoning Ordinance and Building Code analysis and apply the provisions of these items as they affect compliance depicted within the Construction Documents.
- Ability to perform Construction Administrative duties.
- Expert knowledge of building products, construction details, building codes, regulations, and quality standards.
- Proficient in Revit a plus, but not necessary

Registration Requirements: Registered Architect or on track for licensure

Perks:

- Competitive Compensation – Let’s be honest, we do it for the love of buildings, but we’ve also got mouths to feed and plane tickets to Paris buy. Our goal is to provide financial security, that is why we offer job security if you rock at what you do and provide leading base pay with year-end bonuses.
- Health Care – One of the biggest expenses for people right now. Let us take this one off your plate. We provide Medical/Prescription Drug Coverage.
- And because you might want to be sipping Corona’s on a beach in Costa Rica in your 80’s, we’ve got you thinking about retirement and helping you out by putting some cash in your retirement account for you. We offer a SIMPLE Plan with Company Matching Contributions
- Vacation & Company Holidays
- Flexible Lifestyle: We work hard and have families too. We get it.

Please email resumes and portfolio to emma@pca-arch.com